Citizens, Industry Called In

Officials Bare Water Crisis

The desperate fight to keep Mansfield homes and industries supplied with water went on today as Mayor Roy W. Vaughn called a public meeting for Tuesday night to consider the water supply crisis.

The mayor said invitations have been sent to civic, industrial and labor groups in the city, asking them to attend a special meeting in the municipal court room Tuesday night.

He said B. V. BeVier, city sanitary engineer, will explain the city's water expansion project and will outline methods of preserving water until the project is complete.

STILL PUMPING

Meanwhile, the fire department pumper that has been working at full speed since 10 p. m. Thursday to keep residents of Woodland and South Boulevards supplied with water, was being prepared for a long seige.

A shack, complete with heat and electricity has been erected near the engine, so that the firemen who are tending the truck can keep warm.

Despite the promise of the water department yesterday that the 150,000 gallon water tower which supplies Woodland would be filled by Friday night, Fire Chief L. J. Steele reported this morning that he had not been able to put a single drop in the tower.

The chief explained that the water is being consumed as fast as it was being pumped into the mains and hence the pumper cannot fill the tower.

The situation became extremely critical last night when the level in the reservoir dropped to four feet, or about 1,200,000 gallons of water for the entire city.

By this morning, the Maxwell pumping station had raised the level to 5.8 feet in the reservoir, but the usual daily drain was expected to reduce the water level again.

For the regular pumps to supply the water in the Woodland tower, the level in the reservoir has to be at least six feet.

TRIES PRIMING

O. C. Kalbrliesch, water superintendent, said today he tried to prime those pumps when the water reached the 5.8 level, but that he was unsuccessful.

The present crisis was brought about on Wednesday when a fitting at the end of the water supply line broke and the entire system had to be shut off for four hours. During that time the level of water in the Woodland reservoir dropped to four feet from the minimum requirement of nine feet and the Woodland tower tank was emptied.

As the daily consumption of water in Mansfield is very close to the pumping capacity of the Maxwell pumping station, the officials are having a difficult time building up the level in the reservoir.

The water department, fighting to augment the supply in every way possible, obtained permission from the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company to use one of its wells.

Water department personnel planned to install a special pump at the well this afternoon and have water flowing into the lines by this evening.

Food Prices Continue to Drift Lower

Grains Turn Upward, Wall Street Firmer

(By International News Service)

Sagging food prices which followed the spectacular break in the commodity markets greeted American shoppers.

Economists were uncertain whether price slashes in the nation's food stores were the result of the 10-day commodities slump or the normal outgrowth of the inflationary spiral.

Retail butter and cheese prices broke sharply at Chicago for the first time since the initial drop on Feb. 4 as most other commodities tended to level off.

Today's food prices, quoted from Chicago, showed:

Bacon—Retail down 10 to 15 cents; wholesale down 14 cents since the January peak.

Beef—Retail down 7½ cents since last week.

Butter—Retail prices 85 to 94 cents a pound; wholesale 78 cents, down 3 to 5½ cents yesterday, with total drop 12 cents since Feb. 4 high.

Cheese—Wholesale down 2 to 2½ cents.

Potatoes—Firm and holding up well in spite of other commodity drops.

GRAINS SHOW GAINS

Meanwhile the prices of lard and all grains but soybeans gained at the opening of the Chicago Board of Trade today, scoring the sharpest advances in more than a week.

Grain markets at other midwestern points lifted slightly, all showing continuation of a possible upsurge, first evident yesterday, from the decline of the past month.

In Wall street, assorted industrial stocks continued to edge toward recovery in today's market while many leaders remained in slightly lower ground.

Brokerage customers generally held aloof to await more light on taxes, European relief, commodity trends and the course of business.

The vessel left Matapeake on the eastern shore of Maryland for Sandy Point, about five miles from Annapolis, at 6 p. m. Friday but was forced to anchor in the bay for 14 hours until the heavy fog lifted.

OK's Boost In Payments

Truman Signs Bill Increasing GI Aid

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Truman today signed legislation increasing benefits of 2,000,000 veterans attending school under the GI bill.

It raises the monthly subsistence allowance for veterans without dependents from $65 to $75, those with one dependent from $90 to $105, and those with two or more dependents from $90 to $120.

The new schedules go into effect April 1, and first checks under the new set-up probably will be received about May 1.

The veterans administration has estimated the increases will cost the government approximately $217,000,000 a year.

Veterans getting on-the-job training are not included in the extra allowances. Neither are farm trainees, interns, or part-time students, the veterans agency said. A companion bill for the benefit of on-job trainees is expected to reach the White House in a week or 10 days.

The present ceiling of $175 a month on combined earnings and allowances for veterans without dependents, and $200 for those with dependents, are not changed by the new law.

Still Active After 50 Years

3 Doctors Honored For Long Service

By NITA BRANSON

Three Mansfield doctors, each with a record of more than 50 years of service, went out to the Sky Club for dinner last night, unaware that they were to be guests of honor with their Mansfield fellow-physicians as hosts. A fourth, vacationing in Florida, will be honored when he returns in May.

Honored last night were Dr. J. L. Stevens, Dr. J. M. Garber and Dr. Robert R. Black. Dr. J. A. Yoder is spending the winter in Bradenton, Fla. All four are still practicing physicians although Dr. Yoder receives only an occasional patient.

Dr. W. Max Brown, chief of staff at General hospital and chairman for the evening, said he thought the occasion could not be duplicated anywhere in the United States. Dr. Roy Scott, of Cleveland, speaker for the evening, said he was quite sure that even Cleveland could not find four practicing physicians with such a record.

DR. SCOTT

Although they must have suspected that "something was up" when they were asked to sit at the speaker's table, the doctors had no inkling of the extent of the surprise until Dr. Brown welcomed the more than 100 guests and announced the purpose of the formal dinner meeting.

Each of the three honored guests was presented with a gold medal, engraved appropriately, and a lei of flowers sent from Hawaii—by two former nurses at General hospital—Miss Miriam Keller and Miss Margery Hildie.

Girl Victim Reveals Vice

CLEVELAND—(U.P.)—A 16-year-old girl's story of how she was lured to a house of prostitution and held captive for a week led to a raid today on one of the largest vice resorts uncovered here in years.

Police Lieut. Martin Cooney, head of the vice squad described the place as "almost too fantastic for belief."

Police found nine men and eight women, some drugged by marijuana, in the eight-room, second-floor flat on the east side. Two of the men will be charged with pandering.

Police found the young girl sitting on a bench at the Greyhound bus terminal yesterday, sobbing hysterically.

She told them she came here by bus eight days ago from a small southern town, hunting work. At the bus terminal, she was accosted by a smooth-talking, well-dressed young man who asked if she wanted a job.

He bought her breakfast, then proposed to take her to an "employment agency." Instead, she was installed in the flat and told police that for seven days she was locked in a room and forced to submit to various men.

Pay Refusal Disappoints

Commission Rejects Judge's Request

Probate-Juvenile Judge Stuart H. Cramer expressed disappointment today at refusal of the county commissioners to grant a requested salary increase for three employes of the Richland county department of public welfare.

Judge Cramer, as administrator of the Aid to Dependent Children program, asserted he believed it was "manifestly unfair that any county employe should be denied a cost of living increase in their compensation due simply to the fact that the source of their pay is from state, federal and county funds instead of county funds only."

Judge Cramer said he had requested a salary increase for the director from $225 to $235 a month, for the investigator from $175 to $190, and for the secretary from $165 to $190.

The commissioners said they consulted with an auditor of the state department of welfare and decided not to ask that the county be elevated to bracket two (counties over 100,000 population) from the present bracket three, (counties under 100,000).

Salaries are limited by bracket classifications. The five employes now receive the maximum for bracket three, except the secretary who receives $5 more.

By changing classifications, the county would be partly reimbursed for increases granted. It could also grant increases by using money out of the general fund, but Chairman John W. Selby said the commissioners agreed not to make a supplemental appropriation from the general fund.

The commissioners on Jan. 1 granted pay increases to employes under their supervision, as did all other county department heads.

Five Held As Hostages

SHANGHAI—(UP)—The safety and perhaps the lives of four U. S. marines taken prisoner on a Christmas day hunting expedition were put on the block by Chinese communists today as a price for a complete U. S. withdrawal from China.

A communist radio broadcast admitted that one marine in a hunting party of five, Pfc. Charles J. Brayton jr., whose father is a civilian employe at Fort Jay, N. Y., was killed by the communists. Brayton died of wounds received during his capture, the broadcast said.

In a virtual ultimatum to the U. S., the broadcast said the surviving four might be given "clemency" if American forces withdrew completely from China.

The fate of the marines, the broadcast said, rests fully on U. S. navy western Pacific headquarters and the U. S. government. It said the marines are being held under orders of "military headquarters for East Shantung."

Holes Develop In Pavements; 1.85-Inch Falls

Sewage Backs Into Basements

Mansfield, threatened with a water famine Thursday, virtually floated in some sections last night.

Basements of hundreds of homes were flooded, some for the first time in years as a torrential rain hit the city.

Pavements heaved or sank, leaving more than 100 gaping holes in city streets and imperiling traffic.

And more disagreeable traffic conditions were in sight. City officials feared that streets made "soupy" by light snow that followed the rain would freeze tonight.

Snow flurries and temperatures dropping to the vicinity of zero were forecast for Sunday.

By noon, the mercury stood at 26 degrees, a sharp drop from its 50-degree high at 8:30 p. m. yesterday. The noon temperature was a fall of eight degrees from midnight.

WORST NIGHT IN YEAR

The nearly two-inch rain and snow that followed gave city workers the worst night in a year. Streets in the east and north sections were inundated. Overloaded storm sewers on South Foster street caused an upheaval of the brick pavement and shut off that street to traffic today.

E. W. Davis, street superintendent, said that more than 100 repair holes in city streets were washed out by rain that the airport weather station said totaled 1.85 inches in a six-hour period.

West end residents complained that sewage backed up through drains in basements, damming up water to depths of eight and 10 inches.

WOODLAND HARD HIT

Woodland basements and driveways sloshed with rain water. Mechanical difficulties at the Maxwell Springs pumping station had caused a shutoff of water to these same homes on Thursday afternoon.

In the Millsboro road addition, residents reported that the relentless flood-tide washed soil from around foundations.

Tin cans littered North Lake park as refuse dumped into Touby's run swelled up with the rising water and overflowed into the recreation area.

Bucket brigades were common in the North Mulberry section as that area, generally hardest hit by a rain storm, was completely under water. Fifth avenue, north of Grace street, was also flooded and closed to traffic.

UNDERPASS CLOSED

Davis declined to estimate when South Foster street would be opened. The street is closed between East First and East Second streets.

Ohio Areas Hit By High Water

(Compiled From Wire Services)

As Ohio streams surged upward today, forcing hundreds of families to move to temporary shelters, rivers in four southern states, swollen by heavy rains, welled over their banks in angry waves.

Ice gorges formed and broke up along the rolling Ohio river, which rose steadily.

Snow-melting temperatures and a two-inch downpour struck industrial Dayton and surrounding areas the hardest blow yesterday.

Four to seven feet of water drove about 1,000 families from their homes. At nearby Moraine City, the giant Frigidaire corporation plant closed down with 12 inches of water in its administration plant.

The industrial city of 300,000 was virtually isolated for several hours. Only to the west were highways reasonably passable.

40 HIGHWAYS CLOSED

The state department of highways reported 40 main roads in the state closed as well as main secondary roads because of high water.

Little and Big Miami rivers and many creeks overflowed their banks in the vicinity of Portsmouth, closing several highways. A bridge was washed out near New Boston, and a landslide blocked Route 23 for several hours five miles north of Portsmouth.

The greater Cincinnati area also was threatened by rising waters in the Ohio river, which was climbing at the rate of a foot an hour.

Outside of Ohio, the flood threats were equally, or more, serious. High water in southern states was aggravated by weeks of rain, sleet and snow.

Added to the misery of the water was a forecast in the four affected states—Tennessee, Kentucky, West Virginia and Mississippi—for near freezing weather and possibly some light snow.

Meanwhile, Tennessee, already plagued by rampaging rivers in the central section of the state anxiously eyed the massive Tennessee river and the Cumberland which winds through the heart of Nashville.

RIVER RUNS AMOK

The area around Shelbyville in mid-Tennessee apparently was one of the hardest hit by floods. The Duck river was running amok.

In Kentucky the entire community of Oneida was ordered abandoned as waters poured in from three swollen mountain creeks.

Neighboring West Virginia reported flood waters lapping in the streets of many towns, with 30 families at Logan forced to flee. In the central part of the

10 Killed, Many Injured In Mississippi Tornado

NEWTON, Miss.—(U.P.)—Ten persons were killed by a tornado that knifed through the outskirts of this town yesterday in a Friday the 13th disaster.

The tornado accompanied torrential rains which have swollen rivers causing them to burst dikes and levees, sending flood waters rolling over large sections of cotton-growing lowlands.

John Newcomb of Hattiesburg, Miss., general field representative of the Red Cross in Mississippi, directed rescue operations.

He gave the casualty figures, adding that at least 15 were injured "very seriously" and more casualties might be discovered after rescue workers moved farther into the area.

Broken, uprooted trees scattered across main highways delayed relief workers for hours and driving rains impeded rescue operations.

Alderman T. O. White, who surveyed the tornado damage, said 15 or 20 houses were flattened and boards from the houses were scattered all over the fields.

Newton residents said the sky turned inky black just before the twister ripped through the outlying residential district about 12:30 p. m. yesterday.

Gov. Fielding Wright, who was in Newton when the tornado struck, was uninjured.

Heavy rains continued to drench the rich farm and dairy region long after the tornado ripped through.

Oil Fortune Heir Ends Bachelorhood

Rockefeller Weds Immigrants' Daughter

(Pictures on Page 3)

PALM BEACH, Fla. — (AP) — Winthrop Rockefeller, heir to a fabulous fortune, was married in the first minutes of this St. Valentine's day to Mrs. Barbara Sears, daughter of Lithuanian immigrants.

The 35-year-old Rockefeller, and his pretty blonde bride, 31, were married at 12:14 (EST)

The Rev. Winslow S. Drummond, pastor of the West Palm Beach Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony.

The newlyweds planned to slip quietly away later today for an undisclosed honeymoon spot.

The simple single ring ceremony was conducted against a floral backdrop in a room overlooking Lake Worth in the winter estate of Mr. and Mrs. Winston Guest, long time friends of the bride.

After the vows were spoken, tall, good looking Rockefeller leaned over and kissed his vivacious five-foot, six-inch bride.

A reception before the wedding was attended by 50 guests who ranked among society's most noted figures and included the Duke and Duchess of Windsor, Count and Countess Jean de la Valdène, Mrs. Hudson Vanderbilt, Herbert Pulitzer and Mrs. Brenda Frazier Kelly.

One name, Joe Borney, which appeared by mistake on the select guest list, later proved to be an accordion player hired to entertain the guests.

The bride wore a simple pink linen dress with matching shoes which she bought a week ago and called "something old." For "something borrowed" she carried a handkerchief loaned by Mrs. Guest. A blue orchid in the center of a spray of white orchids was the "something blue."

The wedding, which became a Valentine's day ceremony, was originally planned for Friday the 13th. But a 72-hour waiting period required by Florida law forced a change in plans.

Scriptures—John 14:25, 26; Acts 2:1-4; Acts 3:1-4:31; Galatians 5:22-24.

On the day of Pentecost the apostles were gathered together and suddenly "there appeared unto them cloven tongues like as of fire, and it sat upon each of them."

At the gate called Beautiful one day a lame man asked for alms; Peter said he had no money, but taking him by the hand, he said, "In the name of Jesus Christ, rise and walk," and he did.

The people, excited by this miracle, gathered around the man and Peter Peter told them that they had killed the "Prince of life," but in His name the miracle was performed.

War Photographer Tells His Story In New Book

A personal narrative of war photographer Robert Capa, SLIGHTLY OUT OF FOCUS, takes its place on library shelves this week. Capa covered actions in North Africa, Sicily, Italy and France. His book is illustrated with some of his best photographs. Observations in the narrative are both funny and moving.

COLD WAR, by Walter Lippman, also is available now at the Library. It is a brief analysis of United States foreign policy in relation to Soviet Russia. The book is arranged as a group of articles in reply to an anonymous article published in Harper's magazine which purported to express the attitudes of our state department at the time when the Truman Doctrine was introduced. The articles are being run now in The News-Journal.

A gay and charming family album called WE LEAD A DOUBLE LIFE, by the Hoffman twins, is the story of home and childhood in St. Paul. The story also deals with studying in Minneapolis and Europe and the twins' first jobs in New York.

Other non-fiction titles are:

SUCCESSFUL MARRIAGE, by Fishbein; WOODWORKING PROJECTS AND UPHOLSTERY, by Baxter; ATTRACTIVE LAWN FURNITURE, by Champion; PARTIES ON A SHOESTRING, by Wool; SOCIAL-ECONOMIC MOVEMENTS, by Laidlaw; F-M SIMPLIFIED, by Kiver; JOHN LOVES MARY, by Krasna.

FICTION LISTED

EAGLES IN THE SKY, by Van Wyck Mason, is the fourth and last in this author's popular tetralogy of the American Revolution. This volume covers the years of 1780-81. The central figures are three young doctors whose adventures and romances supply the frame-work for a picture of a young, bankrupt, and all but exhausted nation.

IN THE STEEPER CLIFF, by David Davidson, Lt. Cooper, an American Army officer, was sent to Germany after the war, to help reorganize newspapers in Bavaria. Having an almost morbid desire to prove the courage he knew he lacked, Cooper identified himself with a last anti-nazi Bavarian newspaperman. He even fell in love with the man's wife, and when Lorenz finally returned Cooper had the answer to his problem.

RED WINE FIRST, by Nedra Tyre, is a collection of sketches about people on relief. Each story is told to a case worker and they deal with both the sordid and the tender aspects of people in trouble.

Other fiction titles are:

SOMETHING WONDERFUL TO HAPPEN, by Teilhet.

DEVIL IN THE SKY, by Bradley.

Claims Dems Losing Grip In New York

Coalition Split, States Winchell

Walter Winchell took a personal peek Friday into the national political situation and came up with this inside story in his own style of what he learned in New York and Washington. He declares New York may go Republican in the 1948 presidential election.)

By WALTER WINCHELL

NEW YORK — (INS) — Tammany's Bronx Chieftain Ed Flynn, New York's top political boss, visited the White House this week, and Washington Democrats flatly state that Flynn has put New York state in the Dewey column. If true, this confirms this reporter's Sunday night "tip" that New York may be lost to the Democrats.

Mr. Flynn emphatically told party chiefs that he would not accept alliance with even the non-communist liberal party in New York.

The New York political boss stated his position firmly and said that if the White House disagreed, he was frankly willing to resume his position "as merely Democratic chairman of the Bronx."

All of which presented the White House with a deep dilemma —because the New York liberal vote has the margin of victory for Truman, if any.

The revolt of the liberals against President Truman, who say "we finally found him out," is so serious that Les Biffle, the secretary of the Senate Democratic Policy committee, is trying to act as peacemaker. Many Democratic congressmen openly don't care if Truman wins or loses in 1948."

As a result of Flynn's position and activities in Washington in the last week, Chairman Berle of the Liberal party will personally denounce him over the air in New York on Sunday night. He will charge that the Flynn position has destroyed not only the Roosevelt coalition, but will destroy Roosevelt's securities and exchange reforms.

The Liberal party will also take sharp issue with Mayor O'Dwyer for asking Wallace back into the Democratic party. This means that the Roosevelt coalition, which kept New York in the Democratic column for over 20 years, will be broken by 11 o'clock Sunday night, and that the Republicans are 3 to 1 to carry New York state.

The Democratic party is more deeply split than at any time since Al Smith was nominated in 1928. The Liberal break with Truman, unless remedied, will result in a worse showing by Truman in 1948 than John W. Davis made in 1924 in a similar Wall Street platform.

High water also backed up over Ashland road and into the Park avenue west underpass, causing some motorists to find lodging in other towns for the night.

County workmen finished a 48-hour shift on roads this morning and started all over again with cinders. County Engineer Walter E. Rusk said the men worked all night spotting high water marks on roads with torches and unclogging storm sewers and culverts, banked with snow and ice.

Two trucks were out today, spreading salt on streets made perilous by snow that fell on streets still wet and frozen from the heavy rain. Rusk said workers were unable to use snow plows on gravel roads because of the muddy undercoating.

BLESSES CATHOLIC STATIONS—At solemn services last night at St. Peter's Catholic church, 14 crosses and the carved stations in which they rest, were blessed by Msgr. R. C. Goebel with special prayers and ceremonies. Above, John Bernat, husband of Mrs. Martha Bernat, sculptress who carved the stations, shows how the crosses were installed while Msgr. Goebel looks on.

Stations of Cross Blessed At Rites

By NITA BRANSON
(News-Journal Church Editor)

In solemn and impressive services at the St. Peter's Catholic church last night, the 14 stations of the cross were blessed by Msgr. R. C. Goebel, assisted by the four assistant pastors of the church.

The 14 crosses were blessed and placed on 14 wood carvings depicting "The Way of the Cross," sculptured by Mrs. John Bernat, Mansfield artist.

Permission of Pope Pius XII was necessary before the stations could be blessed in St. Peter's church. That permission was obtained from the Pope in the Vatican through Bishop Karl H. Alter of Toledo on Feb. 9.

The service last night opened with a sermon by Msgr. Goebel, in which he gave an explanation of the stations. His sermon was followed by the blessing of the crosses before the high altar of the sanctuary.

As Msgr. Goebel stood before each station, he gave the prayer symbolic of that station before placing the cross in its carved base. He was assisted in the impressive ceremonies by Rev. Timothy M. Downey, as deacon, Rev. Virgil Riedlinger as sub-deacon, Rev. William Conces as master of ceremonies and Rev. Richard Morman.

2 CHOIRS SING

Following this service, Msgr. Goebel gave the solemn benediction. Music for the service was presented by the men's and high school choirs under the direction of Raymond Baum, organist and choir leader.

According to Msgr. Goebel, installation of the crosses and the stations began in the days when churchmen made sacred pilgrimages to Palestine.

"These pilgrimages were of course confined to the nobility and the wealthy," Msgr. Goebel related. "In order to permit the common people to view the scenes of the Passion and Death of Christ, replicas of these events were placed in the various churches so that the average man would be granted the same privilege and indulges that he would have had if he had made the pilgrimage to Palestine. These stations were usually donated to the church by members of the parish."

In the case of St. Peter's, the church commissioned Mrs. Bernat to sculpture the carvings. They took her months of continued work. Made from Philippine mahogany, they depict two or three figures from the traditional "Stations of the Cross" and are representative of the story of Christ's Passion and Death.

The 14 stations blessed last night at St. Peter's include portrayals of the following scenes: Jesus is Condemned to Death, Jesus Carries His Cross, Jesus Falls the First Time, Jesus Meets His Sorrowful Mother, Simon of Cyrene Helps Jesus to Carry the Cross, Veronica Wipes the Face of Jesus, Jesus Falls the Second Time, the Women of Jerusalem Weep Over Jesus, Jesus Falls the Third Time, Jesus Is Stripped of His Garments, Jesus is Nailed to the Cross, Jesus is Raised Upon the Cross and Dies, Jesus is Taken Down From the Cross, and Jesus is Laid in the Sepulcher.

Although the original drawings of Christ's Passion and Death contain many figures, Mrs. Bernat portrayed the scenes adequately, using only two or three for each station. They were carved in relief one half inch deep.

3 Veteran Physicians Honored

Sky Club Dinner Medals Presented At

medals priased the veteran physicians for their long years of service and devotion to duty. Dr. L. J. Bonar presented the medal to Dr. Stevens, Dr. Brown to Dr. Garber, and Dr. Paul Stoodt to Dr. Black.

The leis were placed around the honored doctors' necks by Miss Carrie Beale, supervisor of nurses at General hospital. At the conclusion of the program the guests crowded around to congratulate the three guests.

CITES LONGER LIFE SPAN

Dr. Scott, who is a professor at the Western Reserve School of Medicine and chief of the staff at Cleveland City hospital, said the fact that men are living longer now than they did a number of years ago is creating a growing economic problem for the nation

"With the average life span increasing yearly, we now have many patients who are around 65 or more as compared with an average of 48 in 1900," he said.

"This caring for an aging population is seriously affecting our taxation and economic situation here in America," he said. "You not only have to care for your own mother and father but for others as well. Probably nothing will be done until the problem affects our ability to give our children an education. Then we'll take steps to solve it."

Dr. Scott said the waning influence of the old-fashioned family doctor is one of the causes for the present-day psycho-maladjustment.

"The old family doctor," he declared, "used to be adviser and confidante as well as physician. He kept every member of the family 'on the beam.' Today is an age of specialization and the general practitioners or family doctors have decreased in number alarmingly over a period of years.

TREND CHANGES

"However," he pointed out hopefully, "I have noticed the last year or two a tendency on the part of our students at Western Reserve to return to the general practitioner idea. We need more of the family doctor today."

One out of every three persons today dies of heart disease, Dr. Scott said, adding that this disease had become the great American killer.

"It outranks even the dread cancer," he said. "Tuberculosis, which used to rank third as a killer, now is in seventh place. You can be pretty sure that you'll die of arterial or cerebral trouble or cancer in these days."

Guests at the dinner were Dr. and Mrs. A. O. Fonkalsrud and board members of General hospital.

HELD AFTER SHOOTING

ST. CLAIRSVILLE — (UP) — Joseph McMahon, 72, was held in Belmont county jail here today in the fatal shooting of Thomas Jones, 56, at nearby Belmont last night.

4 Doctors Pile Up Record Of 206 Years of Service

A total of 206 years in the service of medicine is the remarkable record of the three Mansfield doctors who were honored last night at the Sky Club by fellow-physicians of the city and a fourth who will be honored in May.

Dr. J. L. Stevens, physician and surgeon, with 53 years of practice behind him, is the dean of Mansfield doctors. Dr. J. M. Garber, now an eye, ear, nose and throat specialist, is second with a record of 52 years. Dr. Robert R. Black has practiced medicine for 51 years and Dr. J. A. Yoder, also an eye, ear, nose and throat specialist, opened up his office in 1898, just 50 years ago.

Dr. J. M. Stevens

Dr. J. M. Stevens came to Mansfield immediately after graduation from Starling Medical school in Columbus and opened his office April 3, 1895. His service as a physician and surgeon in Mansfield is the longest of any of the four honored last night. He is one of the few living charter members of the American College of Surgeons.

He began general practice here in the days when the horse and buggy was the only mode of travel. When an operation was needed, it was performed in a home or in event of an industrial accident, in a factory or one of the city hotels—frequently the old Vonhof hotel.

There were only three registered nurses in the city. There was, it is true, one doctor for each 400 residents as compared to one for each 800 today, but the difference was more than offset by the great amount of time needed for travel to the homes of patients. And the physician lacked many of the aids to his profession so well known to every doctor today.

Rubber gloves, for instance, were unknown. Doctors dipped their hands into a solution of crude rubber and benzine, which dried on the hands and formed a rubber covering.

There were no laws governing medical practice. Many claiming to be doctors had no training. Dr. Stevens, with three years of study at Starling had more than average training in medicine. He since has added to that early medical study by taking frequent post-graduate courses.

Dr. Stevens's first office was in the old B & O. station on North Mulberry street. He moved to his present location, 67 North Mulberry street, in 1904.

Dr. J. M. Garber

A graduate of Western Reserve University Medical College in 1895, Dr. J. M. Garber came to Mansfield in the fall of 1908. Before that he had served as intern at Lakeside hospital in Cleveland and had been engaged in general practice in Plymouth about nine years.

Immediately before coming to Mansfield, Dr. Garber had moved with his family to Philadelphia from Plymouth for post-graduate study in eye, ear, nose and throat. From there he went to London for three months and to Vienna for another four months of study.

Dr. Garber has been a member of the Richland county and Ohio state medical associations and the American Medical association since his early days in general practice. He has served both as president and secretary of the county society.

A member of the active staff of General hospital since its opening, he has served as its chief medical officer for a year and has taught nursing classes of the training school on ear, nose and throat, since its inception.

Dr. Garber holds a life membership both in the American Academy of Ophthalmology and Otolaryngology and also in the American College of Surgeons.

Dr. Black is known as a "family doctor" and his patients have numbered second and third generations in many of Mansfield's older and best-known families.

During the years, he has been president of the Richland County Medical association and always a member of the General hospital staff.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

PAGE FOUR MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1948

Drive carefully tomorrow—and cheer up, a "low-priced car" is again being promised.

Most unpopular of current happenings is announcement of a price increase for some commodity.

An observer of present-day politics asks: "Suppose the Republicans had a Lincoln today—would they be smart enough to recognize him and nominate him?"

Water Supply Is Primary Need

THAT old saying, "You never miss the water until the well runs dry," applies with equal force to entire communities as well as to the individual families to whom it was originally directed.

Residents of cities and towns are quite likely to take modern conveniences for granted, and to be little concerned about the adequacy and dependability of their water supply until some such occurrence as that of Thursday night when there was a five-hour interval during which homes in some sections of Mansfield were without water pressure.

This incident points out, in a mild way, the importance of not only keeping the present supply system in the best possible condition, as to pipe lines, pumping equipment, storage facilities, and the like, but also to hasten the availability of an additional supply through completion of the Clear Fork reservoir project.

Commercialized Gambling Still Out

WHEN a gambling ban "stays put" in Mansfield for two weeks THAT'S NEWS, and thus far no evidence of relaxation has been noticed by persons inclined to keep tab on such activities.

Whether Police Chief Schwab will be able to make the ban "stick," as he promises, and whether Sheriff Robinson can prevent operation of gambling places in suburban and rural sections, are still matters for guessing rather than for confident prediction.

Council has not yet been called upon to decide as to licensing pinball machines, as recommended by Chief Schwab, and a phase of this to be taken into account is the extent to which teen-agers are permitted to play these machines in some stores, a recent observation being that of a pinball machine surrounded by small boys and being played by a 16-year-old youngster—without interference by the management.

Vigorously expressed intent of owners who distribute pinball machines is that children shall not be permitted to play them, but how this restriction is to be enforced has not been satisfactorily explained.

Ancient Origin of Valentine Day

THIS IS a venerable day, indeed. It is the day of the lovers' festival and can be traced back to Roman times when it was known as the Lupercalia. Even the poet Chaucer mentions this festival which we know as Valentine day.

In olden times in England the names of young men were placed in one box and the names of girls in another. The names were drawn out in pairs and the couples exchanged gifts.

The custom today is largely one of exchanging sentimental greetings and giving parties for young people. But it is a pleasant tradition and not entirely without significance. For, that pleasant little fellow, Cupid, seems to have come down through the centuries unscathed by wars, industrial revolution, and dawn of the atomic age.

Oleo and Butter Equally Nutritious

THE MILLIONS of families that have become users of oleomargarine—because of the prohibitive price of butter—need have no worry over the nutritive qualities of present-day oleo, according to physicians and disinterested scientists who have passed upon merits of conflicting claims and find that oleo and butter are indistinguishable, insofar as nutritive value is concerned.

A two-year study by the University of Illinois college of medicine in Chicago, provides interesting information. The study was based on observation of 217 children, some of whom were fed butter exclusively while others had oleo in their diet. In matters of weight, height and health generally, absolutely no difference was noted.

It therefore becomes even more plain that federal and state laws discriminating against margarines are solely to further dairy interests rather than designed to contribute to the public welfare.

Danger In Open-Flame Heaters

ACCORDING to engineers of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, emergency operation of unvented open-flame gas and oil heaters brings a serious hazard to life in the home. If a house is tightly closed or a room is small, the oxygen present is gradually burned up, and the products of combustion develop dangerously high percentages of deadly carbon monoxide. The combination of toxic carbon monoxide and the asphyxiation produced by inadequate oxygen may result in a drowsy, painless death.

Inasmuch as these heaters are frequently used to implement regular heating systems, three safety rules suggested by the national board should be known to every householder.

First, the doors to individual rooms in which the heaters are burning should not be closed. Second, the heaters should never be left burning upon retiring for the night. Finally, the heaters should not be used as the permanent or sole source of heat for habitable rooms.

When Is a Person 'Old'

HOW OLD IS OLD? The Australians want to challenge the United States for the Davis tennis cup, but hesitate because of the lack of young players. Of their two best players Adrian Quist is 35, and John Bromwich is 29. These years count when the owner plays a lad of college age.

At the other end of the scale it amuses or sometimes infuriates middle-aged readers to see a headline, "Aged Man Hit By Car," and learn that the venerable victim was 58. This term, "age," needs to be defined.

As if there were not enough difficulty already in trying to understand what's going on in the world, Western Reserve university is tackling microbiology to make a serious study of cellular life.

Akron barbers are considering raising the present 90-cent price of haircuts—apparently not having heard the news about prices coming down.

No Question About Start of 'Cold War'

WE SHOULDN'T let the charges and counter-charges about who started World War II get us off the beam.

The vital thing for us to know is who began the "cold-war" in which we now are engaged, and what it means.

After all, it's the present and the future in which we have to live. Naturally a knowledge of history is vital to help us interpret the present and prepare for the future.

For that reason it is well that we study the current exchange between Washington and Moscow about the antecedents of the second World war. We won't go into details here but a few highlights on thumbnail are these:

The U. S. state department has published captured nazi documents purporting to show that Germany and Russia agreed to divide Poland between them, and that they also agreed Britain and America should be kept out of Europe, Asia and Africa.

Moscow retorts that the United States, Britain and France provided Hitler with the strength to launch the war—that it was done with "a golden rain of American dollars" and by French and British diplomacy.

Well, there can't be much argument about the partition of Poland, for we saw that actually carried out as the war began. And nazi Foreign Minister Von Ribbentrop testified during his war crimes trial at Nuerenberg that Russia was Germany's willing partner in this division.

The bolshevist allegation about "a golden rain of American dollars" is new to this correspondent, and needs a lot of substantiation, which Moscow promises to give. As for the charge about British and French diplomacy, far be it from me to question the truth of that, having followed British Prime Minister Chamberlain to Berchtesgaden and Godesberg where he tried to appease the nazi beast, and having attended the fateful Munich conference where little Czechoslovakia's head was handed to Hitler on a platter.

* * *

Part of Soviet Plan.

HOWEVER, I'm much more concerned with our current "cold-war" and the danger that it may get "hot." Who started that, and why? This column has answered those questions before but they are so vital that we venture to repeat. It's dangerous for us not to know the facts, and here they are:

This "cold-war" was started by the Soviet Union back in 1919 when the comintern, or third international, was formed. This was the general staff to supervise a world revolution for the establishment of communism in all countries.

The crusade was pushed until Stalin came to power after Lenin's death in '24. Stalin temporarily pushed the world campaign to the background while he inaugurated his five year plans to make Russia powerful industrially and militarily. He wanted to get set for eventualities.

The Soviet leader was credited by European observers with anticipating another World war that would bleed Europe white and provide the chaos which would give communism its chance. Well, the world war came—and history will determine how it started.

The important fact is that a distraught continent did provide a fertile field for the Red ism, backed by Russian arms, and a huge communist empire was carved from eastern and central Europe.

Out of these circumstances have grown the "cold-war," which now threatens western Europe and the rest of the world.

Mountains of argument will be developed about how the World war started. There is no argument about the "cold-war" or its threat to free nations.

Taft's Listeners Agree

By THOMAS L. STOKES

ON TOUR WITH SENATOR TAFT—On his current midwestern trip Senator Robert A. Taft appears somewhat in the role of the landed proprietor checking up on his holdings, or the head of a great corporation visiting his branch offices.

He speaks before select audiences of his own kind—businessmen, bankers, lawyers, conservative politicians—brushing up not at all against people in the mass.

He speaks to those already converted to his way of thinking. His meetings are, in effect, sessions of boards of directors of the political, business and financial enterprise in the communities he visits.

He echoed, for example, the burning convictions of every one of the 1,600 persons who sat before him at the annual meeting of the Association of Commerce at Bloomington, Ill., when he denounced the New Deal.

When he went to Gary, Ind., center of the great steel and industrial empire that stretches along Lake Michigan, to defend the Taft-Hartley law, he spoke not to workers but to managers gathered at a luncheon of local service clubs who did not have to be convinced. The law suits them.

So it is, before select groups, that his appearances are scheduled on this tour that is taking him beyond Illinois, Indiana, Minnesota into Nebraska and Colorado for eight days of campaigning for the Republican presidential nomination.

Yet this is fitting and appropriate to the man, his philosophy of government and the nature of his campaign for the nomination he so avidly seeks by an arduous trip in midwinter.

The success of Bob Taft's campaign depends on organization leaders, a closed corporation of themselves, and the business and financial interests which support the regular party organization. He is, frankly, not a popular candidate. Yet the element upon which he relies is powerful still in American politics. The only question is how powerful it will be at the Philadelphia convention.

★

Has Familiar Sound.

IT MAY be too late. The popular polls hint at that. Following the Senator around, listening to him speak, there comes over the observer the feeling somehow that he is hearing something from the past like a popular song of a generation ago.

He is earnest and forthright about his position. The people can learn easily where he stands. He condemns the New Deal and everything about it. It is, to him, an alien and abhorrent philosophy. You know he means every word of his blistering invective. He literally glows with sincerity when he speaks, and with a righteous wrath.

He is for private enterprise doing the job in America with the minimum government help, and that on the basis of charity. And he is, likewise, for the same sort of program for people of other lands now in difficulties—the poor are always with us, and they must be provided for.

His attitude sticks out in his speeches, his cold, businesslike attitude, and you realize that the man does not see it the ways lots of other people see it. He is just that way.

The ultimate purpose of our foreign policy, he says, is "to assure that freedom under which progress can be resumed," and then he adds:

"We should not be actuated by purely altruistic desire to improve the condition of a lot of other people who have failed for centuries to do the job for themselves."

As for this country, he says we have reached such a high standard of production that we should "put a floor under the essential requirements of our lowest-income families so that extreme hardship and poverty may be eliminated."

Summary of Week's Happenings

Inflation Bubble Nears Breaking Point

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

EUROPE is experiencing a mild winter, raising hope for harvests that in some countries may equal those of prewar years.

A survey of the continent shows Germany, despite food shortages, is better off than last year. In France one of the best harvests since before the war is in prospect. Fields already are green in Britain which last year went through its worst winter in half a century.

In Italy, the winter is about over and winter wheat is six inches high. Some areas of Russia report the warmest weather in 50 years. Argentina and Australia are exporting wheat. So are Russia and Romania.

Prospects are good for a bumper American winter wheat.

Commodity Prices Sag.

As these facts became known, swollen grain prices cracked in the nation's commodity markets. For three successive days last week, wheat and corn dropped the full limit permitted under trading regulations at Chicago, Minneapolis and Kansas City.

This week after a momentary rally the market reeled again. Prices of cotton, grain and livestock slumped. Stocks on the New York Exchange fell.

The price break and its implications became headline news.

In Washington, a Congressional committee began an inquiry. Rep. August H. Andresen (R-Minn), chairman of a House committee on commodity trading, charged that speculators with inside information made tremendous profits within a few days.

What's the Answer?

American housewives, fighting the high cost of living, asked: "Is this the end of inflation?"

Businessmen pondered: "How will this affect my company? Is it the start of recession?"

Of all the nation's inflated costs, the prices of commodities have been the largest bubbles. They had to break first.

If the commodity price drop sticks, retail prices of food will come down. Other prices will come down, too.

A recession need not follow, economists say. A recession is simply a degree of adjustment. If commodities stabilize on a lower level it is just what the consumer wants—lower prices. It is only when adjustment becomes severe that it moves into recession, or depression.

It said Ching practically handed John L. Lewis a loaded gun to take into negotiations.

"If Lewis' demands are such that we can't concede," said a West Virginia mine official, "the government will step in and grant him what he wants. Lewis knows the only way the government can get coal is to give in."

The United Mine Workers chieftain already had taken what many operators regard as a possible first step toward ending the present contract April 1. On the first of this month, Lewis notified the operators a dispute exists over his proposed $100 a month pension for miners 60 or older, with 20 years in the pits.

* * *

Counterfeit Toll.

Counterfeiting cost the American public $85,000 in 1947. This is almost twice what the public lost on bogus money in 1946.

James J. Maloney, chief of the Secret Service, reported this week that $2,769,000 in counterfeit bills were seized before they could get into circulation.

Of this total, $87,000 was in bills which reached here from abroad. A raid on a counterfeiter's lair near Marseilles, France, bared $2,100,000 in fake U.S. currency.

At Home

The Family Doctor.

A trustee of the American Medical Association views with alarm the trend towards specialization in medicine.

Dr. Wingate M. Johnson of Winston-Salem, N. C., speaking in Chicago to the A.M.A.'s Council on Medical Education and Hospitals, warned that a continued trend away from general practice could be disastrous to the profession.

"When the next depression comes," he said, "many specialists will suffer loss of income and possibly be forced into general practice without preparation. Let us not forget that during the last depression, physicians were operating taxicabs and elevators. As far as I know, none of these were family doctors."

Dr. Johnson said that already patients were complaining they could not get doctors to come to their homes when necessary.

Unless public demand for family doctors is met, he warned, politicians who promise free medical care to all will find ready followers.

* * *

Dixie Democrats.

The Democratic national committee may carry President Truman's civil rights banner into the heart of Dixie next month for a showdown.

Chairman J. Howard McGrath has been invited to speak at a Jackson-Jefferson Day dinner in Atlanta March 5. He is likely to make Mr. Truman's 10-point civil rights program the core of his speech.

If he does, however, McGrath will tell the Georgia state organization and give it a chance to withdraw the invitation.

Dixie Democrats are aroused over the President's February 2 message to Congress. In it, Mr. Truman called for action to ban state poll taxes, abolish "Jim Crowism" on trains and buses, make lynching a federal offense and set up a fair employment practice commission.

Although most southerners condemn these objectives, many are reluctant to break away from the Democratic party.

* * *

A Loaded Gun.

Cyrus S. Ching, chief federal labor conciliator, declared the government will not permit a soft coal strike this spring to cripple the nation's industry.

The South Coal Producers Association immediately yelled "Foul."

LIFE'S LIKE THAT

"Ever since I borrowed the glass from the soda fountain Will-yum has loved his oatmeal."

Abroad

War of Words.

The propaganda battle between Russia and the United States hit a new high this week. The Kremlin charged that American dollars, together with British and French diplomacy, paved the way for Hitler and caused World War II. These charges, Moscow said, are buttressed in important documents captured by Soviet troops in Berlin.

This is the Russian comeback to publication by the U.S. State Department on January 21 of 260 captured Nazi documents dealing with secret Russian-German relations just prior to the war.

These disclosed that Hitler and Stalin conspired to whack up Poland, divide the Baltic states, dominate the Balkans and smash British and French influence throughout Europe, Asia and Africa.

* * *

Trouble In Orient.

The customary gap between victor and vanquished is almost indistinguishable in China and Japan. Both nations face dire hardship amid economic, political and social upheavals.

China, of course, still is ravaged by civil war. Japan is digging out from defeat under occupation rule.

Hope of substantial aid from the United States appears the only big prop supporting Chiang's government.

* * *

Third In Olympics.

The fifth Winter Olympic Games ended this week at St. Moritz. Sweden won the 10-day competition. Switzerland was second and the United States third.

Americans took three championships. One was in its old specialty—the four-man bobsled race—won by a team piloted by Frank Tyler of Lake Placid, N. Y. Other winners were Dick Button, 18, of Englewood, N. J., men's figure skating, and Mrs. Gretchen Fraser, Vancouver, Wash., special women's ski slalom.

When Instinct Guides

By CALVIN A. BYERS

LAST FALL I watched religiously the burrow of a groundhog that extended beneath an old apple stump about 50 feet from our house. Briers and sumac grew all about this place. The most ambitious dog would not plunge after him in such protected quarters. Perhaps, in dumb certainty, his forebears had dug out the richest subsoil and the thick rough brambles had followed.

Stretching north, south, east are worn trails so wide and smooth that even rabbits follow on them when desperately pursued. These extend from the common center of the brier patch to areas of thrifty beggar weed—a legume that grows wild upon the slope. All during the summer these were familiar paths to important feeding grounds. Often on a fine cool August morning I saw him grazing here. Nipping only for a moment, then rising tall upon his haunches he would survey the country for some distance from this hillside vantage point.

By mid-September he had grown amazingly in height, weight and apparent well-being. His appetite seemed more and more keen and he grazed with a serious purposeful expression. Up to the first week of November, he appeared in his accustomed haunts and kept on eating.

Hunting season made him nervous. He remained inside, and came out only at near dusk. Later I observed, by the tracks in the soft soil leading from his oval-shaped doorway into the hill, that he came out only occasionally. Then one morning a light snow fell and heavy frost covered everything. I went to look, but was not surprised that with the thermometer at 12 degrees Fahrenheit, he had gone to sleep.

The earth is warm—45 degrees at the depth where he rests—and both entrances to his home have been snowy much of the time since.

I have wondered, when I observe a lovely natural action such as this which climaxes a whole well-rounded season of living, how animal instinct differs, after all, from the simple confiding faith of a little child.

Even in maturity, faith is exercised before accomplishment. Many times, through the course of years, our faith has borne us truths of inestimable value before our intellect had reached a reasonable proof of what we believed was true. Wishful thinking, backed by real faith, works wonders.

Golf Goes To Court. . .

A case to be heard in a federal court in Arizona appears to raise the question whether the constitutional guarantee of free expression extends to a golf kibitzer who kibitzes while his victim is putting, and whether by extension it permits tickling the golfer as he bends to tee up the ball.

Both of these activities were so fiercely resented by the golfer that he thereupon broke a putter over the head of the kibitzer, who now demands $150,000 in actual and punitive damages; the golfer asking a like sum in a cross suit for injuries alleged to have been received in the ensuing brawl.

On a case not yet decided, we must withhold any comment beyond saying we feel the kabitzer's best and perhaps only chance in court is to draw a judge who is not himself a golfer! — Detroit News.

Washington's Corps of Journalists Overlooked Wallace-Roerich Story

HENRY WALLACE will not catch enough votes to make any difference, so my purpose today is not to head off a menace but to comment on the state of our journalism in Washington.

This corps of high-priced political specialists must be exceedingly dumb or corrupt or some of both, the usual exceptions being noted. I would say it was a combination of apathy and corruption—but with the proviso that I mean corruption in the non-larcenous sense.

I know journalists there who wouldn't take a White Owl from a proud father, so pure in heart they are, who nevertheless would try to scuff silt and leaves over a corpse in the main lobby of the Mayflower to cover up a murder by anyone connected with the New Deal.

Their integrity, their honor has been rotted by long association. Their initiative is dead.

★

These reporters fell for the likes of Henry Wallace years and years ago, or fell for old Moosejaw the One, and feel that they are stuck with Henry in a job of political full-line forcing.

I say it is a scandalous commentary on our great free journalism that, with a couple of thousand head in Washington, the whole corps never found and told the revolting story of Henry Wallace's implication in the Roerich mess. Carlyle Bergeron was the only one who gave it a flick and he didn't even try for the tackle.

What good are they, anyway?

I can hire little boys to go around and say "Thank you, Mr. President" and pick up handouts from the bureaucrats. That isn't reporting.

They carefully step over news stories every day, leaving it to committees of Congress to do jobs that city side reporters do as standard practice in New York, Chicago and other cities. Documents are stolen. Records are falsified to cover up crookedness. We hear nothing about it.

★

This Wallace story reveals a terrible situation. Without a word from the Washington crowd, the people of the United States were permitted to vote into the vice presidency, under a fading invalid, a simpering, dribbling, knee-sprung paper-collar Joe who was balled up with the Roerich cult in New York.

If Wallace would answer whether he wrote those idiotic guru letters to Roerich we would either know the worst, by admission, or be enabled to test the evidence. If he did, his election was a ghastly imposition. An idiot wrote those letters.

GUESS THE DATE—Feb. 14 means a profusion of hearts, flowers, candy, and you guessed it—smiling girls and lacy valentines. A radiant smile from Miss Barbara Stahl, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Stahl, 403 Sherman place, makes a pretty picture surrounded by the large cut-out heart. Barbara obligingly, at the request of Photographer George Petrovic, thrust her head through one of the big paper hearts that had decorated a Valentine party.

19 Tire Workers Join 25-Year Club

By GEORGE COMINOS

The man with the longest record of service at the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company gave a dinner last night for the company's "25-Year Club."

He gave out 19 gold watches—one to every employe eligible this month for club membership.

Giving out the watches at a dinner at the Mansfield-Leland hotel was G. W. Stephens, company president, who has been with the company 35 years. Actually, 21 employes joined the club, but two were unable to attend and will receive their gold watches later.

The new members sat at a special table in the middle of the dining hall. They heard Stephens tell how when he started with the company in 1913 its capital was less than $100,000. Its 1941 payroll fell only $1,400 short of $10,000,000.

"We accomplished that because we worked together as a family," and he added, "We are going to grow much larger."

They heard a retired assistant purchasing agent of the company, Ritchie H. Sotherland, relate that in 1913, his first year with the firm, there were just five office workers and only 10 employes in the plant.

R. M. Young, president of the "25-Year Club," said there was a reason for "a mutual feeling of pride."

MAY CHANGE NAME

He said the name of the "25-Year" club may have to be changed. He explained more women are entering the club—"that gives their ages away."

Stephens said the company presented the wathes "because we want to recogize your loyalty and coopeation during these many years. I hope to present watches a good many years yet," Stephns added.

The new 25-year members include Floyd Peters, Fred Caston, Ralph Paul, Adam Keifer, Henry Hock, Martin Diger, Florence Case, Perry Bush, William Frontz, Floyd Schneider, William Brickeley, Clyde Ruhl, Cletus Theil, Vern Anderegg, Roy C. Waxler, Amos Minard, J. F. Heise, A. A. Stratman, J. C. Snouffr, P. M. Gifford and M. P. Garber. Anderegg and Garber were unable to attend the dinner because of illness.

Smart's Accordion Trio provided music.

Leaves $200 To City Church

The First Presbyterian church of Mansfield was left $200 from the estate of Wilbur L. Lindsey, instructor of piano and voice in Mansfield for many years. Mr. Lindsey died last Sunday night.

His will, admitted to provate yesterday, also provides for Ralph, Eureta and Marilyn Volz each to receive $250. His sister, Mrs. Edna Volz is to receive $1,000.

The balance of the estate is to be divided among a brother, Benjamin Lindsey; another sister, Mrs. Myrtle McCarthy, and Mrs. Volz who was named executrix. Letters of administration placed the probable value at $4,900.

Arrangements were in charge of the Geiger funeral home.

St. Valentine Finds Help In Mansfield

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Miss Ann Rickabaugh left the reportorial staff of the News-Journal today to prepare for her marriage, late this month to Carl Adams, N-J auditor. Her farewell article appropriately was about St. Valentine day.)

By ANN RICKABAUGH

St. Valentine is a very charming person normally. This year he is terribly nervous, however, because things, romantic things that is, in Mansfield and Richland county just aren't going according to plan.

The good saint's official title these days is Chief of the Department of Romance, centered in an aromatic office building in Washington. He flew to Mansfield to check up on the deplorable situation here and I bumped into him unhappily coming out of the marriage licence department in the courthouse.

"And it's Leap Year too," he muttered. He stopped and glared at me. "Well, what are you doing about it young lady?"

"Who me? Well, uh, I guess I'm sort of, uh, spoken for," I blushed.

"Well," he beamed, "That's better. That cheers me no end. Come on, maybe you can help me out. We'll have a soda."

Over a soda he poured out his woes. It seems Mansfield and a lot of other cities in the U. S. are not hauling in Valentine and Leap Year results.

"Marriage licenses have steadily gone down since the beginning of the year. Do you realize what this does to the reputation of Leap Year. Don't we have any enterprising women left? Present company excepted," he said hastily.

"With Valentine's Day coming up,—" I began.

"Exactly, my idea exactly. I bought a huge number of Valentines and my circulation staff is going to go into action today. We'll drum up some hearts and flowers yet."

Anderson was an Ashland cab driver for four years. For the present, one car will be available. The last taxi service here, about 20 years ago, was operated by George Sprague.

TRAGEDY RUMOR—

Quite a flurry of excitement developed yesterday afternoon in newspaper and wire services offices when unconfirmed reports indicated that an airplane had crashed near Shelby. The News-Journal newsroom was flooded with calls from the Mansfield area and from Cleveland and Columbus seeking confirmation of the report. The state highway patrol sent officers to Shelby to investigate the rumor, while the CAA also sought to track down the report. Finally, the Associated Press sent a brief message over the teletype machine stating the "CAA says (report) case of mistaken identity; plane apparently confused with report of lodge hall fire in Shelby."

He was presented with a large birthday cake by Miss Ada Steward who said the cake came from "some of the older girls at the Tire." Commented the male guests: "Boy, if one of us had said that it wouldn't be safe for us to walk into the plant!"

Three Get Terms In Illinois

Must Serve Up to 5 Years

Three Mansfield youths, whose "baby bandit gang" activities terminated in Peoria, Ill., early in January, today were sentenced to one to five years each in the Illinois state penitentiary for armed robbery.

Sentenced were: Bruno Dresch, 22, who also confessed to participating in the robbery of the Hotel Southern, Dec. 27; Richard A. Grubaugh, 17, of 21 South Willis avenue, and Robert W. Livingston, 16, of 167 West Fourth street.

The youths were indicted Jan. 8 on charges of robbing the Koren Jobbing company of Peoria of $200. A fourth member of the gang, Leroy Miller, 17, also of Mansfield, was accidentally shot and killed by Grubaugh in a Quincy hotel room while the youths were handling one of the four guns taken from the jobbing company.

REFUSES PROBATION

Refusing their request for probation, Circuit Judge Joseph E. Daily declared: "I was held up myself once, and I regard it as the most serious crime outside of murder."

Dresch, who also confessed to Peoria police that he robbed a service station in Peoria of $55, previously served time in a military prison after his dishonorable discharge from the Marine Corps. Grubaugh dropped from John Simpson Junior high school's roster last spring when he failed to pass the seventh grade. Livingston is a former Galion resident.

Mansfield police said the gang first stole an auto owned by J. W. Stimens, Woodville road, and drove to Attica. When Stimen's car developed motor trouble the youths stole another car and drove to Illinois where they staged the two hold-ups and were eventually apprehended.

High Water Crash Cause

High water north of town caused one accident early today and three autos had to be towed from street areas under repair.

Police said all accidents were either directly or indirectly caused by the heavy rain which flooded several sections in the city last night.

Homer A. Thomas, 309 Chester avenue, was cited for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol as the result of the north end accident. Police said Thomas's auto rammed the rear of two cars, halted at the North Main street, Surrey road intersection because of high water in the area.

Thomas was fined $100 and costs today by Municipal Judge H. H. Schettler, who also suspended Thomas's right to drive for one year. Thomas pleaded guilty.

Cars rammed were a 1937 Chevrolet coach driven by Robert Whisler, Mansfield, R. D. 3, and a 1929 Ford coupe driven by Richard Moore of Greenwich.

Street department crews were summoned by police at 2:20 a. m. today after a car driven by D. R. Richards of Shelby, became stuck in a hole on Rowland avenue. Police said three lanterns around the repair area gave poor illumination and ordered more lanterns for the spot.

At 5:50 p. m. a 1941 Chevrolet driven by Jay Williams, 263 Remy avenue, hit a hole in the vicinity of 448 Glessner avenue and had to be towed from the scene. Again at 6:04 p. m. a 1941 Nash coach driven by H. Birmingham, 825 Springmill street, became stuck at South Diamond street and the court house.

Ashland Jury Gives Husband $4,000 Damages In Balm Suit

ASHLAND — Deliberating only a little more than one hour Friday afternoon, a ju. of seven women and three men assessed damages of $4,000 against Edward Williams in the alienation of affections suit in which he was charged by Harry W. Harvey with stealing the affections of Harvey's wife, Virginia.

Harvey had sought $15,000 in the suit which resulted i one of the most sensational cases heard recently in Ashland county's common pleas court room.

Judge H. E. Culbertson charged the jury shortly after court reconvened Friday afternoon. The jury went out at 1:30 p. m. and returned at 3 p. m., ending the three-day case which had packed the courtroom to its capacity.

During the trial, attorneys for the plaintiff attempted to prove that the Harveys led a normal life until 1944 when attentions to Mrs. Harvey by the defendant destroyed their happy home life.

Defense attorneys claimed the trial was a conspiracy to extort money from Williams, that the Harveys had an unsatisfactory home life prior to 1944 and that Williams had not alienated the affections of or engaged in adultery with Mrs. Harvey.

Nick Gagich Breaks All-Time Point Record

Cuff Stuff

By Fred Tharp

(News-Journal Sports Editor)

OFFICIALS at New Castle, Pa., high school have notified Harry Mehock that they are sending a team to compete in the 17th annual Mansfield Relays April 17. . . . New Castle was represented here last year. . . . Russ Murphy, former Senior high mentor, passed through town again this week. . . . Now an assistant coach at North Carolina, Russ was looking for talent in these parts. . . . In 1916 Georgia Tech must have set some kind of a record by blasting Cumberland U. off the gridiron. 222 to 0. . . . Cumberland's longest gain was a loss of only five yards by George Allen. . . . Persons are still taking "shots" at the Notre Dame footballers because they didn't roll up the huge scores made by Michigan against common foes last fall. . . . But none of the great Irish teams have been noted for merciless pounding of the opposition. . . . The greatest score made by the Four Horsemen was a 40-to-0 blasting of little Lombard. . . . In 1929, when the Irish were national champs their biggest margins were 26-to-6 triumphs over Georgia Tech and Northwestern.

★

DICK SCHNITTIKER, top scoring guy on Ohio State's all-sophomore cage team, should set a new regular season scoring mark for the Bucks this year. . . . He now has 221 points in 15 games. . . . Jimmy Hull holds the record of 267 set in 1938-39. . . . Since Bill Veeck took over the Indians in 1946, the Cleveland payroll has just about doubled. . . . In 1945, Indian players drew $225,000 and the 1948 club stands to pick up about $450,000 in pay. . . . Of course, Bobby Feller's $80,000 swells the figure.

★

FIVE NEW managers will be cavorting in the American association this season. . . . They are: Dick Bartell, Kansas City; Al Lopez, Indianapolis; George Detore, Toledo; Frank Shennenback, Minneapolis; Walter Alston, St. Paul. . . . Joe DiMaggio says Rex Barney of the Dodgers is as fast with a baseball as Feller. . . . Condition of Charley Keller is a vital factor in the Yankee fortunes. . . . If King Kong is right, the Bombers should repeat in the American wheel. . . . Grandpere, a California bred horse, is the first nominee for the 74th Kentucky Derby May 1.

Tyger Sophomores Take Massillon 5 Apart, 37 to 29

Mansfield's scintillating sophomore sharpies romped to their 14th win in 16 games by plastering the Tiger reserves, 37 to 29, last night at Senior high.

The Tyger cubs had trouble getting started, leading only 5-4 at the quarter. However, it was a romp from there on out as the Senior high lads led at the other intermission points, 16 to 8 and 23 to 20.

Howie Tipper, Tyger forward, led the scorers with 16 points.

The game was enlivened by a brawl near the end of the fourth period. A. C. Jenkins and Al Brown, Massillon, traded a few shoves going down the court and both were ejected. The fracas started again as the boys left the floor and both were soon wrestling on the floor.

Both benches emptied as players, coaches and policemen dove in to bring the disturbance to an end.

Raiding Charges Don't Worry Bill

CLEVELAND —(INS)—President Bill Veeck of the Cleveland Indians apparently is little worried by "raiding" charges emanating from the west coast.

Coach Jack Woerner of Sacramento college, Sacramento, Calif., said yesterday he would file protests of "indiscriminate, wholesale signing" of his players by the Indians and the Sacramento Solons of the Pacific Coast league.

Tiro Wins Finale

WHETSTONE — Tiro high school concluded its 1947-48 basketball season by defeating Whetstone here last night, 38 to 35. Whetstone won the reserve game, 20 to 16 but the Tiro junior high triumphed, 27 to 7. The Tiro varsity copped five of nine games.

Senior High Raps Tigers By 8 Tallies

"Dead Eye Nick" Gagich, the perambulating point producer, stands alone today as the greatest scorer ever to wear the red and white of Senior high school.

Last night, Gagich slashed the nets for 21 points to lead the Mansfield Tygers to a convincing 53-to-44 victory over Massillon's big Tigers on the Senior high hardwood. It was the tenth straight home court victory for Coach Vern Hoffman's men of basketball.

The 21 points gave Gagich, Tyger co-captain, a point total of 356 tallies, three more than the record established four years ago by All-Ohio Bobby Baker in tournament and regular season play. Nick has 138 field goals and 80 free throws. He has two more regular season games and at least one tournament tussle to add to the figure.

RAGGED FLOOR GAME

For all of his scoring prolificacy, Gagich played his most ragged floor game of the season and had to be "jerked" from the game in the second quarter. He made five foul shots in the first half but missed eight shots from the court. His accuracy returned in the second half. In the final two heats, Gagich made seven of 17 field goal tries.

Senior high's over-all game was below par but the Tygers controlled the backboards over the rangy Massillon lads. Norb Shibinski was the big noise "down under" and tossed home 14 points besides.

Another pleasant surprise was the eight points contributed by Paul "Pinky" Ferguson. He had made only 15 points in eleven 1948 games.

TEMPERS ALMOST FLARE

The game was marked by the usual Mansfield-Massillon rough play and tempers almost cracked several times in the closing minutes. Work of the two officials—Paul Walker and Paul Tobin—kept the players pretty well in check.

Only some fine shooting from the free throw line in the first half enabled the Tygers to go ahead and stay there.. Gagich opened the scoring with a foul connection and Jim Poth, retaliated for Massillon.

Then Gagich got another foul and Kent Hawkins hit a looper for Massillon. Chuck Galey, the best shot on the floor last night, then hit on a fast break. Gagich's third foul and Ken Carver's one-hander tied the score. The Tygers scored eight more points in a hurry to lead at the quarter, 13 to 5.

LEAD BY 16 POINTS

The Tygers were in the van 29-20 at the half and led at the start of the fourth chukker, 44 to 30. At one time in the third period Mansfield was in front by 16 points.

In the first half, Mansfield made 13 of 17 free throws and had 17 for 28 during the tussle. Massillon broke even on 24 charity throws.

Galey counted nine times from the court and once from the foul line for 19 markers.

★

The preliminary game started 45 minutes late. The Massillon bus stalled eight times coming over and the fog made driving treacherous.

★

Another crowd of approximately 1,550 persons jammed into the sweltering Tyger gym.

Lexington Minutemen Win '48 Richland County Basketball Crown Last Night

Lexington's ace-high Minutemen boasted the 1947-48 Richland county basketball championship today.

The Don Sutter coached crew clinched the championship last night by winning a thrilling 42-to-40 decision over Lucas on the Lexington court. It was the 12th league win in 14 games for the Minutemen and gave them a one-game bulge over the defending championship Butler team.

Lexington copped the county tournament title in 1947.

The sixth place Lucas combine, striving vainly for an upset victory, kept very much in the game for over three quarters.

In fact Lucas hopped into a 14-to-7 lead in the first quarter and still led at the half, 20 to 17. Lexington tied the count as the fourth quarter opened, 23 to 23.

Then Rollin Ford, county scoring leader, and Dick Dill of Lexington started to find the range. Each slashed in eight points to give Lexington a five-point margin with 90 seconds remaining. Don Stake, Lucas, scored 10 of his 17 points in the fourth quarter to keep his team in there.

Ford topped the point-makers with 18 to raise his season's league total to 358 points, an average of slightly less than 20 per game.

The third quarter resembled a football game as only nine points were made by the two teams.

Lexington won the preliminary contest, 33 to 26.

George Curran, rolling in the Moose league, was the kingpin in Mansfield bowling last night, ramming in a 603 series on his games of 205, 200 and 198, with Fred Harmon of the opposition coming in with 177, 182 and 205 for a 564 total.

Ted LeMunyon cracked 182, 200 and 179 for 561, with Henry Michaels coming along fast with 189, 156 and 225 for 570 sticks, and John Bernat tumbling 219, 172 and 168 for 559. Palmer White improved as he went along, with games of 180, 197 and 202 for 579, and a teammate, Don Dancer, rolled 186, 162 and 212 for 560. Ray Kindinger had a middle score of 234 but only 168 and 145 to go with it.

Lewis Garnes also got better right along, spearing 178, 197 and 213 for 578 while Red Burger toppled 180, 177 and 195 for 554. Fritz Vogel finished with 222 and a 553 series and George Biroy had 551 with 212 as his best single effort.

★

Curt Boehm of the Independent league had a miserable opener with a 131 game, but it was just practice. He fired in 194 and 234 for finishers to give him a 559 total and top honors. J. R. Hetler gathered 514 and Pucel Davis had 511.

★

Garnet Karl topped the Women's Commercial 'B' loop with a 534 series, acquired on games of 166, 193 and 175. Florence Handwork finished with a 200 game, while Mary McMullen rolled 188, 157 and 161 for 506. Joe Kills turned in 502 and Mary Dintaman 500 for other high series. Lil LeMunyon had 501.

★

Carl Middaugh was top man in the Mansfield Tire Owl loop, with 533 pins and a 194 high game, followed by Joe Leathers with 524 and Andy Callahan with 522 and a 209 single game. Bill Riggenbagh didn't have much of a series—398 pins—but what he did get he got in one game. Bill had a 64 game—yes, 64—to start with, and then clubbed the lumber for 212 and cooled off again for 112. From rags to riches, or the sublime to the ridiculous. But that's what the scores read.

★

Merle Leedy started with 198 in the Tappan second shift, and had 485 as the best series, followed by R. W. Blackledge with 479, Jack Russell with 470 and Bob Van Tilburg.

McMillin Weighs Coaching Offers In Pro Football

INDIANAPOLIS —(U.P.)— Alvin (Bo) McMillin said today that he was still head football coach at Indiana university but that he had not made up his mind about offers of college and professional coaching jobs.

He said he might go to Detroit next week to look over the Detroit Lion coaching situation.

He was reportedly offered a seven-year contract at $25,000 a year to become head coach of the Lions.

However, McMillin refused to comment about any professional offers or a reported offer from Yale university.

He has eight years to go on a 10-year contract at Indiana.

Rams' Record Is Ruined By Morton's Hot Streak

BUCYRUS—Madison high held the lead for a few second here last night at the start of the final quarter, but a brilliant scoring spree by the Redmen rubbed out the one-point margin and the Rams lost their first game this season, 39-27.

Bucyrus was outscored from the field, but cashed in on 19 free tosses, which proved enough to snap the 15-game streak compiled by the Mansfield team.

Bucyrus built up a 13-8 lead the first quarter and held a 19-14 edge at the intermission. As the third quarter faded, Madison opened with a scoring burst which saw Dick Ernsberger drop in a free throw and a dribble in shot and Dick Poth connect on a pivot shot. That left the score 23-22, with Bucyrus leading, as the fourth quarter opened.

Herb Eldridge pumped in a shot to move the Rams ahead, 24-23, as the final quarter began, but Morton hit a one-hander from the side, and then swished in another pair of goals from the same spot to put the Redmer ahead to stay. Gallant followed with a free toss, Light made good on two free throws and Gallant dropped in a pair of gift shots before Wilson counted for the visitors.

By that time the issue was settled, and the Rams gathered only five points the entire fourth quarter.

Morton was the scoring leader, getting 15 points, and eight of them came in the final session, just when it appeared the visitors were going to salvage the contest. Gallant made good on eight free tosses, while being held to a pair of field goals and had 12 points for the night.

The Rams were checked on their offense, with Ernsberger the leader with seven points. The Mansfield team, however, collected only three free tosses to go with their 12 field goals, two more than the Redmen counted.

Although Temple hit for 32 points for the Bucyrus reserves, the Madison seconds took the opener, 43-42. Distl led the winners with 13 points and Brightbill tossed in 10.

Galion led at the quarter, 11 to 9, but was behind at the other period marks, 18 to 26 and 26 to 37. The Tigers outscored the Whippets, 14 to 9, in the final quarter.

Center Cronenwett and Jake Gates, both of Shelby, were the leading scorers with 13 and 11 points.

In the preliminary game, Shelby's junior varsity defeated the Galion junior varsity.

Cincinnati Upsets Mighty Duquesne Quint

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Illinois had the "Whizz Kids," Utah the "Blitz Kids" and now Ohio has the "Upset Kids"—Cincinnati's Bearcats

Cincy's season-long record of 11 wins in 17 games is little better than average, but when it comes to knocking off front-running quintets, the Bearcats are champs.

They did it again last night, bumping mighty Duquesne in Cincinnati, 55-41. It was the Dukes' second loss in 17 games and "enabled" them to move alongside such other prominent Cincinnati upset victims as Butler and Utah.

While Cincy was manufacturing one of the season's biggest form reversals, the state's two pace-setting teams—in standings up to last night—were going down.

Xavier's drive for national recognition was slowed at Louisville, 58-47, and Lincoln university of Missouri clipped Wilberforce State, 56-53. Those defeats paved the way for Toledo to take over the top rung in overall Ohio standings.

Elsewhere around the state, John Carroll piled up an early lead and then coasted to a 51-44 win over Detroit university; Baldwin Wallace blasted Dayton, 71-58, as Dick Selgo and Ed Hrivnak showed the way; Capital won its 10th game in 13 starts—69-43 over Hiram; Muskingum thumped Heidelberg in a free scoring affair, 95-60, as Muskie center Bill Ruby hit for 26; Oberlin took a thriller from Case Tech, 65-61; Rio Grande beat Detroit Tech, 61-56, in an overtime, and Mount Union scored its 12th win in 17 games by tripping Youngstown, 45-37.

Louisville stretched its winning streak to eight by snapping Xavier's off at nine. Xavier trounced the Kentuckians last month at Cincinnati, 62-35, but it was a different story last night.

Cincinnati never was behind against Duquesne. Four Bearcats —Rubenstein, Dallmer, Richter and Laub—clicked for 10 points or more. Cincy pulled away in the first six minutes, and held a 26-18 halftime advantage. Duquesne pulled up to 31-30 in the second half, but the Bearcats found the range for 12 points to the Dukes' one and won going away.

Tonight's heavy firing features Illinois at Ohio State, Cincinnati at Butler, Loyola at Toledo and Bowling Green at Syracuse.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

A Fighting Yank In Kashmir

Soldier Bares Soviet Intrigue In India

(In the following fifth article of his thrilling series, Russell K. Haight, Ex-GI from Denver and Brooklyn who led a Moslem army against the Hindus in Kashmir tells of communist intrigue in India today—eight years after India was earmarked for Soviet penetration in a secret Hitler-Stalin-Hirohito pact.)

CHAPTER V

By RUSSELL K. HAIGHT
Former Brig. General, Azad (Free) Kashmir International Brigade.

DENVER—(INS)—The glaciers of Nagar mass themselves in an uninterrupted barrier from northern Afghanistan to the Himalayan foothills.

Here is the true crossroads of the east. In this wild country Afghanistan, India, Tibet, China, and Soviet Russia meet.

From the Soviet Russia to India the barrier can be crossed—through the Gilgit passes.

And so, in 1889, the British established the Gilgit Agency and founded the Gilgit Scouts—to protect India from Russian expansion.

The British are gone now, and the only news that comes down from the Gilgit passes is that the wild Pathan tribesmen still roam there.

At Punch, and later, at Kotli, at Janghar, at Seria, and at Mirpur the Pathan tribesmen I commanded had been equipped with Russian rifles.

There are other signs of Russia in Kashmir.

In the bazaar section of Rawalpundi, Parkistan, there is a two-story red-brick building surrounded by a 12-foot brick wall. It used to be a mission college. It is a different kind of college today—teaching communism.

The founders of the college were the public relations men of the Azad (free) Kashmir government, Mitha, a Moslem, and G. K. Ready, a Hindu.

SHUNS WARNING

British officers in Pakistan used to tell me to avoid them but I got to know them pretty well and I liked them at first.

I lived with them in Punch house every time I came to Rawalpindi.

Mitha and Ready had founded the Kashmir Freedom league. Why Ready, a Hindu, was taking part in a Moslem revolt against the Hindu government of India, I could only guess.

The league has no official connection with Azad. Its avowed purpose is "to offer constructive criticism to Azad in order to improve the lot of the common people of Kashmir."

The leaders of Azad are religious Moslems. Sardar Mohammed Ibrahim Khan, the president of Azad, who hired me and is now presenting Azad's case to the United Nations at Lake Success, is a devout man.

I do not know why he tolerates Mitha and Ready. I do know that Mitha and Ready have little regard for him.

There were other "teachers" at the college. Strangely enough, they were blond and blue-eyed. I never saw a blond, blue-eyed Pakistani, Afghan, Pathan, or Hindu.

These "teachers" could not speak either Urdu or Pushtu, the two languages of Kashmir. They'd shrug their shoulders when I'd try English on them But I guess they could teach street-fighting without saying much.

I do know they weren't Moslems, for I used to see them in bars around Rawalpindi, drinking heavily. No Moslem touches liquor.

In all my talks with Kashmir communists I got the idea that they were just waiting for Russia to come down through the Gilgit passes and take over all of India and Pakistan. I didn't like the idea, and I discussed it with British officers in Rawalpindi.

The British had two constant topics of conversation—one would there be war between India and Pakistan? And, two, if so, how long would the Russians wait before moving in?

British intelligence was much interested in the information I gave them about communists in Kashmir. They already knew most of what I had to say, but they asked me to watch for more.

Especially, they asked me to keep them completely informed on the activities of Mitha and Ready.

I did. And that's what led to my fleeing from Kashmir—a wanted man.

There was a strange convoy that came down from the hills one day

All I knew about it was that Mitha and Ready were determined to smuggle it across the Pakistan frontier to India

I tipped off British intelligence The convoy was stopped that day.

That night Mitha and Ready sent two gunmen to kill me.

MONDAY: Haight tells how he "saved the assassination attempt and how he escaped from Kashmir.)

WAR PICTURE—This photograph brought out of Kashmir by 26-year-old Russell Haight, Denver, Colo., ex-GI, shows Moslem leaders of Mirpur, India, lying dead following Hindu raid. Haight came upon the scene as he led trained Moslem and wild Pathan troops into the town.—(International)

Modern Times Force Changes

Many Children Lack Self-Reliance

(Editor's Note: This is the second of a series of articles on changing methods in Mansfield public schools.)

By ANN RICKABAUGH

Modern times have forced some of the changes in education. This is most noticeable in the beginning grades of elementary schooling when children make the jump from home to their first independent contact with society.

For one thing, teaching of self reliance in children of yesteryear was not much of a problem. When Mansfield was still a predominantly farm community, children of necessity learned to do many things for themselves by the time they entered school.

Whereas most children of a half century ago came from farming communities, today's children come from extremely varying backgrounds. They have to get used to the other children and in some cases, because of doting parents who try to do everything for their youngsters, they must even learn how to button their own coats when they enter first grade.

Although the ages of all children beginning their education range within a year, they are very different in emotional, mental, social and physical growth.

Before real learning can begin, each child must have matured to a certain extent in al lthese characteristics. This is something many parents fail to recognize.

In casting around for a term which would explain the newer method, Mansfield teachers hit on "Readiness For Reading." This includes al lthe adjustments a child has to make to the teacher, his new place in the world, in his classroom and to his classmates.

On the Mansfield school records are many cases where physical defects caused troublesome students.

Teachers also have to look out for the child who is gloomy, listless, overly shy or overly dictatorial—trouble at home perhaps, too much care or too little.

TESTS GIVEN

They also must consider mental differences. Although they exist among children, they aren't emphasized. Tests give fairly reliable estimates of a child's mental age.

These help to guide the teacher in knowing how much to expect of a child

When reading begins, some children progress faster than others. Accordingly they are divided into groups with other children who progress approximately the same rate. This prevents inferiority complexes and permits children to help each other.

This is the teaching end. Parents sometimes make the job easier, sometimes harder A child who is given no responsibility at home has a tougher time making a social adjustment at school.

One first grade teacher reported recently that a Mansfield mother persisted in bringing her little boy right up to the door of the classroom and taking off his wraps for him. Not only did this child act rather helpless but his classmates soon wondered why they didn't get similar service.

FORGET AT RECESS

Other parents, of course, encourage children to, do things for themselves.

Teachers emphasize they have no objection if children learn the alphabet before coming to school. If the child is really bright, he may recognize the letters in words and learn to read much faster. On the other hand, he may just know the alphabet because he has memorized it.

All of a sudden it's June and the kids swoop out to a summer vacation. Comes the next September and the children move on to another teacher who has to review some of the first grade work in order to refresh the children on things forgotten during the summer.

400 Attend Noon Dances At Simpson

School Rooms, Halls Painted

By RAY GERRELL

The student dances, which are held in the gym at noon on Mondays and Fridays as a part of the noon activity with music furnished by the newly-organized Simpson Dance Band, have proved a great success, with an attendance of nearly 400 pupils. These dances are chaperoned by the teacher on noon duty.

The painting of the rooms and halls in John Simpson has progressed as far as the basement.

The Safety Patrol under the direction of W. B. Firestone has taken Dick Staup as a new member.

The deadline for the fifth issue of the John Simpson Times is February 23. It is scheduled to come out March 5.

Miss Bess Wickert's seventh grade geography classes spent Monday in the Library looking at National Geographics and studying the Atlas.

★

W. B. Firestone's seventh grade boys' woodshop classes are working on projects for which they made drawings the first half of the year. Many of the boys are working on bird houses. In the ninth grade classes, lamps are the projects of many of the boys.

To date in the Simpson Junior Red Cross sales tax stamps drive, the three leading rooms are 209, 101, 104. The contest has been extended till March 8 instead of February 18.

The Simpson Student Service, under the direction and supervision of Miss Hester Robinson, has admitted Billy Rinker, ninth grade, as a new member.

★

The Times staff and reporters will attend the annual Ohio Northeastern scholastic press clinic April 24 at Kent State University. The staff will enter stories in the editorial writing, news writing, column writing, feature writing interview, and sports writing contests.

Wednesday the Press Club held their regular meeting in room 102 under the leadership of John Damron, editor-in-chief of the Times, and Mrs. Gladys Lane, the faculty adviser.

A call for new members and replacements for the Simpson Safety Patrol has gone out.

During Crime Prevention Week the Exchange Club is bringing a speaker from the FBI to this city. He will give a talk to the Simpson students and faculty members in an assembly held in the auditorium Monday.

Bud Sorenson, ninth grade, will enter a snapshot in the National Photographic Awards Contest.

The Y team, whose president is Sandra Stutz, met at the Y Wednesday' Refreshments were served and games played.
